

Course Delivery Modality and Section Numbers

Asbury Theological Seminary offers a variety of ways to engage in courses. The section number can help with determining the delivery modality for the courses.

Bilingual (BL): Bilingual courses are taught in Spanish and utilize English texts as resources.

Face to Face (W): Courses offered on a weekly basis in a classroom setting.

Hybrid (W, OL, M, TB, T, C): Courses offered throughout the semester with both online and in person sessions. Non-attendance to the in-person portion of the class will negatively impact your grade.

Independent Study (I): An independent study is an independently arranged research course in a subject area or topic not covered by a course currently listed in the academic catalog.

Independent Course (I): An independent course is an independent arrangement of a course currently listed in the academic catalog and completed outside of the classroom, as contracted between professor and student. Independent courses are registered with the catalog course number and are graded per the catalog course description.

Intensive (W, OL, M, TB, T, C): Course meets typically twice a semester for multiple days. The majority of the learning will take place during the in-person portion of this class and non-attendance will negatively impact your grade.

Online (X): Courses offered completely online with no specific meeting requirement.

Synchronous (SR or SN): Courses offered online with regular weekly meetings at a set time. Some courses are cross-listed with an in-person section.

Travel Courses (TR)

Travel courses at Asbury Theological Seminary are defined as courses that include face-to-face instruction at a location other than the approved campus and extensions. Some travel courses may include a domestic or overseas cultural immersion or attendance at a significant conference related to course content.
